

Figure 9. Trends in tillage practices for all small grains in Oregon and Washington; data are expressed as a percentage of the total acreage planted to winter wheat, spring wheat, and barley in each state, including irrigated and dryland production systems.

