Typical reasons for requesting a meeting include requests for rule exceptions and conflicts in the barn that are beyond the scope of the project superintendent.

Attending Fair is a privilege. You are responsible for positively representing yourself and the program to the public. Act in a way that reflects well on yourself, your community, and the 4-H program.

Awards

placed in one of the four groups, depending on the quality of the exhibits or performance of the contestant. The four groups will be blue (excellent to superior), red (good to excellent), white (acceptable but needs improvement) and participation (Clover buds and exhibits for display only).

- Premiums will be awarded according to the blue, red, or white ribbon received without regard to the class entered, except for all market animal classes where ribbons will be awarded but no premiums will be paid.
- Champion ribbons will be awarded at the judge's discretion.
- The decisions of the judges are final.
- No awards or placings will be changed after the close of county fair.
