Expected Attendance: 250+

Conference Description:

For 17 years the High Desert Green Industry Conference has been a premier professional development opportunity for landscape professionals, arborists, and industry affiliates located on the East side of the Cascade Mountains. With a decided emphasis on the high desert landscape, the conference also provides strong relevance to all who supply, design, maintain, or manage landscapes. The conference is held during the "off season" and provides time for valuable peer networking and top-level professional development sessions.

The two-day conference features concurrent breakout education tracks affording green industry professionals the opportunity to gain CEUs for industry designations.

In addition, the conference offers master classes for individuals who desire a deeper learning on specific topics.

The High Desert Green Industry Conference includes a trade show with vendor representation from throughout the Northwest, as well as an evening networking reception within the tradeshow area complete with giveaways from participating exhibitors.

The conference is planned and presented to you by Oregon State University Extension, Oregon Department of Forestry and Oregon Landscape Contractors Association.

Thanks for your consideration. We hope you'll join us!
