Your 4-H Story needs to have an introduction, body, an evaluation and plans for next year. Start with an introduction about yourself and the goals you have set for your project(s). Goals are important things that you want to learn, do, or achieve. Next, go to your body which is where you will write about what you have done with your project(s). This can be going to fair, club meetings, activities, community service, leadership, workshops, etc. This is also where you would write about people that have helped you and how they have helped you. These people can be your parents, 4-H Leader(s), club members, Extension agents, members of the community, and so on. To finish your story, evaluate your project(s) and make plans for next year. You may use additional sheets (not to exceed six (6) total one-sided pages for all of your projects).

Check list: Introduction _____ Body _____ Evaluation and plans for next year _____

Name: _____________________________________________

4-H Year: ________ - ________