

Hunger in Oregon

In the midst of some of the most fertile and productive farmland in the state of Oregon, one in five Lane county residents goes hungry each day.

Almost 16% of Lane county residents live below the poverty level. Almost 20% of those are children under age 18.

Access to fresh produce is especially difficult for those on limited incomes.

Master Gardeners and others can help make a difference by participating in a Grow a Row-Share the Bounty project with local food banks and pantries.

Following is a list of locations where fresh produce from your garden can be donated. Produce should be clean, free from spoilage or damage and ready to eat.

Drop off fresh produce before distribution times. To verify drop off times, contact each location directly. Do not leave produce at locations without verifying when to donate. Spoiled produce will be thrown away.
