

Photo courtesy of Dennis Schwartz, Copyright 2006.

Wind Power for Communities: a workshop for residents of rural Oregon

Northwest Sustainable Energy for Economic Development is pleased to present a workshop for rural landowners, public officials and community members interested in learning more about wind energy development. Workshop attendees will come away with the knowledge and tools they need to ensure wind developments, large and small, result in the greatest local benefit. The workshops will include an introduction to modern wind technology, the various scales of wind development, and state incentives and policies affecting wind energy projects. Afternoon break-out sessions with subject matter experts focused on small/community wind projects and landowner participation in large-scale wind projects will also be offered.

All workshops are open to the public with a registration fee of $35.00. A light lunch will be provided. For additional information, exhibitor options and to register please go to www.nwseed.org or contact info@nwseed.org, 1.866.759.SEED. Registration will close on September 9th, 2009.

* Space is limited, register early! ****

Workshops are offered in two locations:

September 23, 2009 | La Grande, OR
Ag Service Center - OSU Extension Office
10507 N Mcalister Rd # 9
La Grande, OR 97850-8716
8:30am - 3:00pm

September 24, 2009 | The Dalles, OR
Columbia Gorge Discovery Center
5000 Discovery Drive
The Dalles, OR 97058
8:30am - 3:00pm

Sponsored by the Energy Trust of Oregon and Northwest Sustainable Energy for Economic Development

