The Douglas aster is an herbaceous perennial to 3’ tall, with blue to purple flowers in late summer. It readily reseeds and spreads underground. Care should be taken in garden placement, as it can be aggressive.

Drought tolerant/Grows in sun/Food source for native butterfly caterpillars/A nectar source for butterflies