Camassia leichtlinii
Camassia quamash
Camassia cusickii

Camas is a stately bulb with 1-3’ daffodil-like foliage and blue-violet flowers in spring. The plant goes dormant by the end of summer and self seeds. Camas needs a site with spring moisture and summer dryness. It does well in heavy soils. Drought tolerant/Grows in sun or part shade/Nectar source for butterflies.