2010 LAMBING SCHOOL

Co-sponsored by O.S.U. Extension & Chemeketa Community College

DATE: TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 2010
TIME: 8 am to 5 pm
LOCATION: McMinnville, Oregon

PRESENTED BY: Gene Pirelli, Oregon State University Extension
Jim Thompson, Oregon State University Extension
Charles Estill, Oregon State University College of Veterinary Medicine

This is an excellent opportunity to learn how to increase your odds of getting live lambs on the ground and off to a good start! This school will be held in a commercial sheep lambing barn, so there will be ample hands-on opportunities.

“EMPHASIS TO BE HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE”

Ewes: Lambing problems, obstetrics, grafting, foot trimming and health.

Lambs: Castration, docking, vaccinations, and emergency situations as they arise.

The school will also include discussions on sheep nutrition and facilities. Each participant with a flock can provide a description of their flock feeding programs so that individual ration analysis can be done during the nutrition session. Participants are also asked to wear warm, appropriate barn clothing!

Cost: $55 per person. The school will be limited to 12 participants. Selection for the school will be based on the first 12 registered.

Remember, first come, first served, because, unfortunately, we can only accommodate twelve people in the class. Fees will be returned if the class is filled. If you must cancel your plans to attend, please notify us five (5) working days prior to the lambing school, so that we can still refund your money.

To register for the class, please fill out the enclosed form. Registration forms and fees must be received by January 13th to reserve your place in the class. All class participants will be mailed a packet of instructions as well as directions to the school location. Participants should receive the packet five days prior to the class.

For more details on the Lambing School please call the OSU Polk County Extension office, located in Dallas, OR (503) 623-8395 or email Gene Pirelli at gene.pirelli@oregonstate.edu
