

A PNW Extension Publication

Hard Cider Production and Orchard Management in the Pacific Northwest

Gary A. Moulton, Carol A. Miles, Jacqueline King and Andrew Zimmerman

Summary

Making hard cider for both commercial and private enjoyment is the target of renewed interest in areas that are well suited to growing apples. This manual provides basic information on the many considerations that go into the reliable production of high quality cider for market, including choosing among cider apple categories, laboratory juice analysis, fermentation procedures, maturation, pasteurizing, and product evaluation in Part I; and rootstock selection, pest management, harvest, and storage in Part II.

About the authors

	Gary A. Moulton
--	------------------------

	Carol A. Miles
--	-----------------------

	Jacqueline King
--	------------------------

	Andrew Zimmerman
--	-------------------------

Buy online
<https://catalog.extension.oregonstate.edu/pnw621>

© 2010 Published and distributed in furtherance of the Acts of Congress of May 8 and June 30, 1914, by the Oregon State University Extension Service, Washington State University Extension, University of Idaho Extension and the U.S. Department of Agriculture cooperating. The three participating Extension services offer educational programs, activities and materials without discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity (including gender expression), sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, familial/ parental status, income derived from a public assistance program, political beliefs, genetic information, veteran's status, reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.)

Accessibility: This publication will be made available in an accessible alternative format upon request. Please contact puborders@oregonstate.edu or 1-800-561-6719.