This class is designed to help landowners examine what to do with their property and what to consider when choosing an enterprise, and business structure.

Useful for all rural land owners and aspiring farmers, basic information such as how to determine soil type and how to understand Oregon Water Rights will be covered, including how to get new rights.

Learn to navigate land use regulations and gain an understanding of how to maintain your special tax assessment (often incorrectly called “EFU” status). Determine what other rights you may have and how to maintain them.

Speakers: Jeff Lyons, Jackson County Farm Assessor; Shavon Hayes, Jackson County Watermaster; Maud Powell, and Angela Boudro, OSU Extension Small Farms.
